

NetSuite for Advertising and Digital Marketing Agencies

The shift of client and consumer expectations has advertising and marketing agencies undergoing rapid transformation. Both in-house and independent agencies are navigating change on an ongoing basis—keeping pace with emerging trends and acting with increasingly limited resources. Amongst it all, client demand for great creative, predictable production execution and transparency into their investment is driving industry change. Yet many agencies are relying on disparate management and billing systems, leaving leadership without a single actionable view of the business.

In an era where agencies need both productivity and agility to survive, systems must adapt to meet the challenges of managing traditionally disparate operational topics such as resource utilisation and client billing.

“If we didn’t have NetSuite, we would not be able to run today’s global business. With NetSuite, we are more resilient and less dependent on tribal knowledge.”

Noah Finn, Founding Managing Partner, Finn Partners

“Overall everything about our finance, accounting and resource management is faster, cleaner and more efficient.”

Becky Ostrom, Senior Vice President of Finance and Operations, W2o Group

Maximising Agency Profitability and Resource Utilisation

Advertising and marketing agencies are experiencing rapid transformation, driven largely by the shift to digital. As retainers and mark-ups give way to more fee- and performance-based revenue, it's increasingly important to maximise the return on employee efforts and diligently monitor time and expenses. Yet many agencies rely on a hodgepodge of disparate management and billing systems, making it challenging to have a single actionable view for agency leaders.

NetSuite's cloud computing agency solution streamlines your complete agency workflow, from bid to bill. With a 360-degree view of your business, you can optimise quotes and staffing, increase utilisation and agility, make data-driven decisions and improve profitability. All of this is delivered via a cloud platform that is agile, reliable and secure.
